Community-Based Finance Models: Rotating Credit, Savings & Cooperatives Training Course

Professional Development Training Course Outline

Category	Microfinance & Financial Inclusion	Duration	5 Days
Base Fee	$1,500 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

Community-based finance models, including rotating savings and credit associations (ROSCAs), savings groups, and cooperatives, provide critical avenues for financial empowerment, access to credit, and social capital development among underserved populations. These models enhance financial inclusion by mobilizing local resources, promoting collective responsibility, and enabling micro-entrepreneurial growth. Participants will learn the practical frameworks, operational dynamics, and governance structures that underpin successful community-based finance initiatives.

Community-Based Finance Models: Rotating Credit, Savings & Cooperatives Training Course emphasizes hands-on strategies for implementing and managing community finance models, integrating digital tools, ensuring transparency, and mitigating risks. Through practical exercises, real-life case studies, and evidence-based methodologies, learners will develop skills to strengthen group cohesion, improve savings mobilization, enhance loan recovery, and promote sustainability in cooperative and group-based financial systems.
