Inclusive Leadership for Labour Organizations Training Course

Professional Development Training Course Outline

Category	Trade Unions	Duration	10 Days
Base Fee	$3,000 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

Inclusive Leadership for Labour Organizations is a transformative capacity-building program designed to strengthen equity-driven leadership, social justice advocacy, and participatory decision-making within unions, worker associations, and labour institutions. In today's rapidly evolving world of work shaped by digital transformation, gig economy expansion, diversity inclusion mandates, and global labour rights movements leaders must go beyond traditional representation models and embrace inclusive, data-informed, and human-centered leadership practices. Inclusive Leadership for Labour Organizations Training Course equips labour leaders with the competencies to build equitable workplaces, strengthen collective bargaining power, and foster psychological safety and belonging across diverse worker populations.

Participants will explore how inclusive leadership can address systemic inequalities, improve union engagement, and strengthen advocacy for vulnerable groups including women, youth, migrants, informal workers, and persons with disabilities. Through practical case studies, simulations, and real-world labour scenarios, participants will develop actionable strategies to drive organizational justice, policy influence, and sustainable labour reform in both formal and informal economies.
