Course Introduction

Effective governance and oversight of the security sector are critical for maintaining public trust, ensuring accountability, and promoting peace and stability. Security Sector Governance and Oversight Training Course provides participants with in-depth knowledge and practical tools to strengthen oversight mechanisms, evaluate security policies, and enhance institutional transparency. It covers best practices in regulatory frameworks, operational management, ethical standards, and risk assessment, emphasizing the integration of international norms, human rights principles, and community-focused approaches. Participants will explore strategic frameworks that enable security institutions to operate efficiently while maintaining accountability and legitimacy.

The course also addresses contemporary challenges in security sector governance, including corruption, human rights violations, policy misalignment, and operational inefficiencies. Through interactive exercises, case studies, and practical tools, participants will learn how to design and implement governance frameworks, conduct independent oversight, and engage stakeholders effectively. By the end of the training, learners will be equipped to enhance institutional performance, strengthen legal compliance, and promote accountable, transparent, and professional security institutions.
